

Green Lands Blue Waters

St. Croix River GLBW is a Regional Partnership

United States Department of Agriculture

Natural Resources Conservation Service

Rural

University of Minnesota

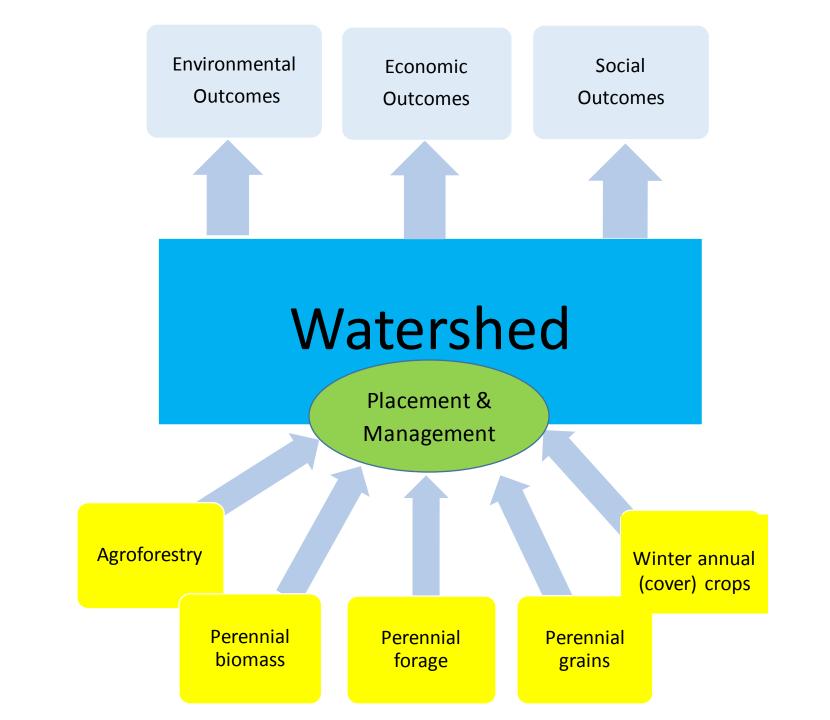

Environmental Benefits of Continuous Living Cover Farming

- Cleaner surface and ground water
- Improved soil health
- GHG mitigation and climate adaptation
- More habitat for wild life and pollinators

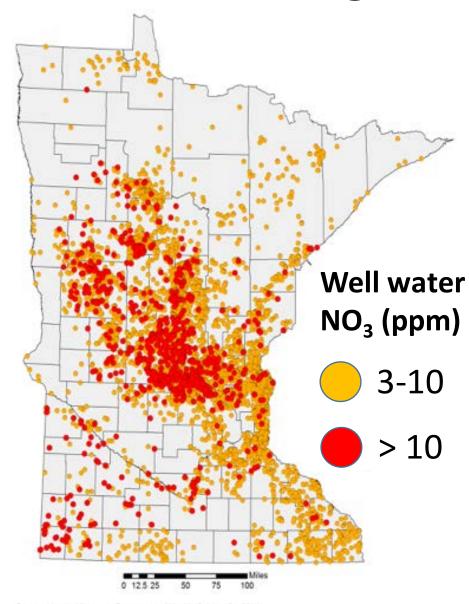

Economic Drivers for Continuous Living Cover Farming

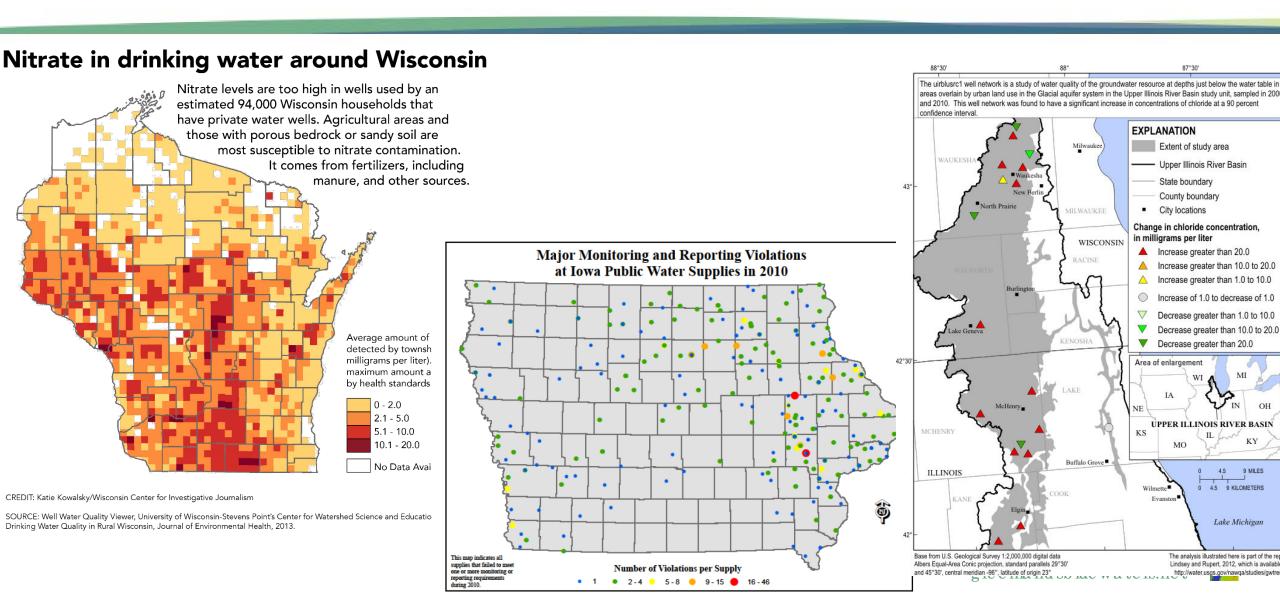

Nitrate Leaching and Groundwater

Prepared by the Minnesota Department of Health, October 21, 2014

Aregionalproblem

State collaborations for source waterprotection

United States Department of Agriculture

Natural Resources Conservation Service

Kernza?

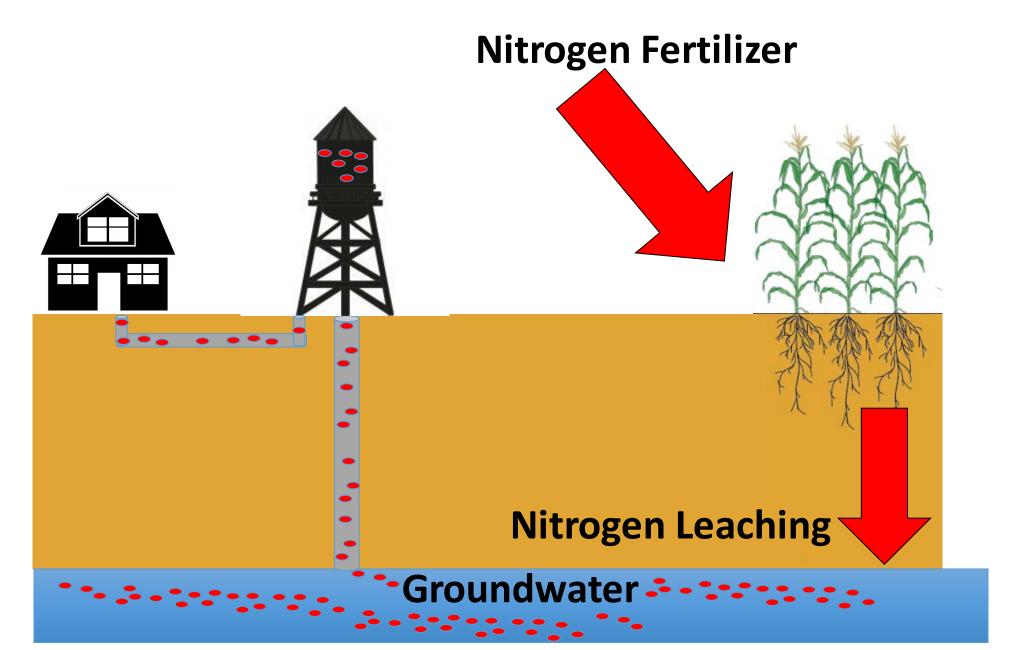

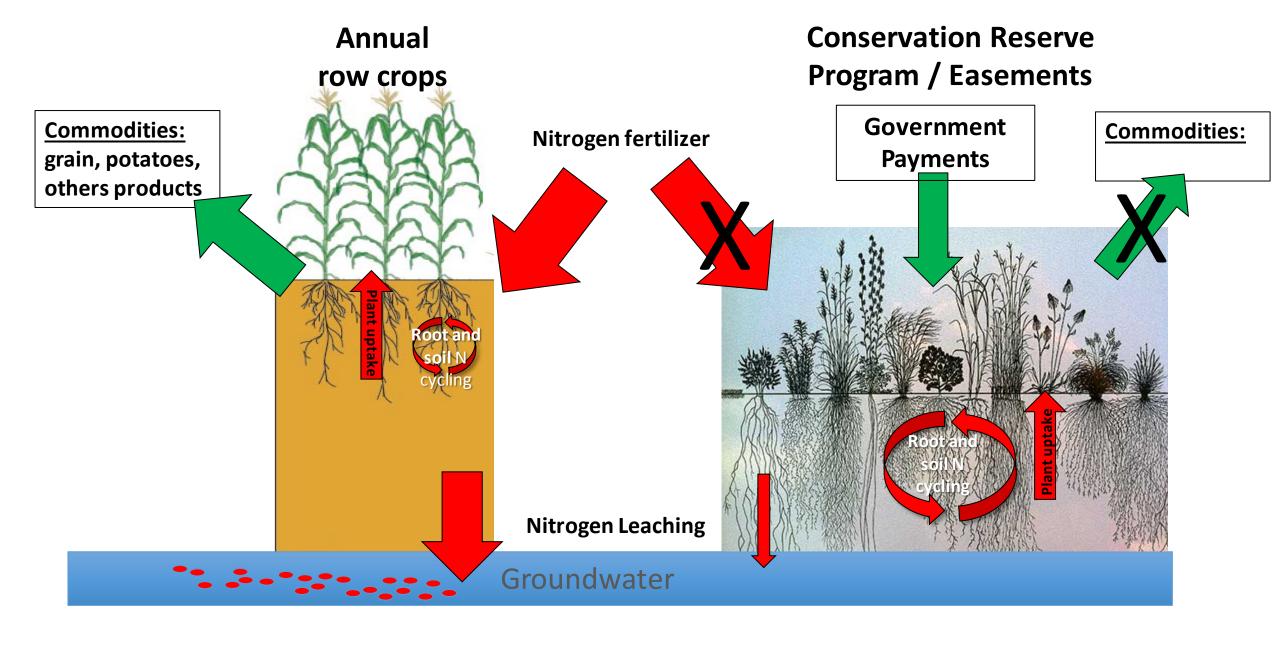

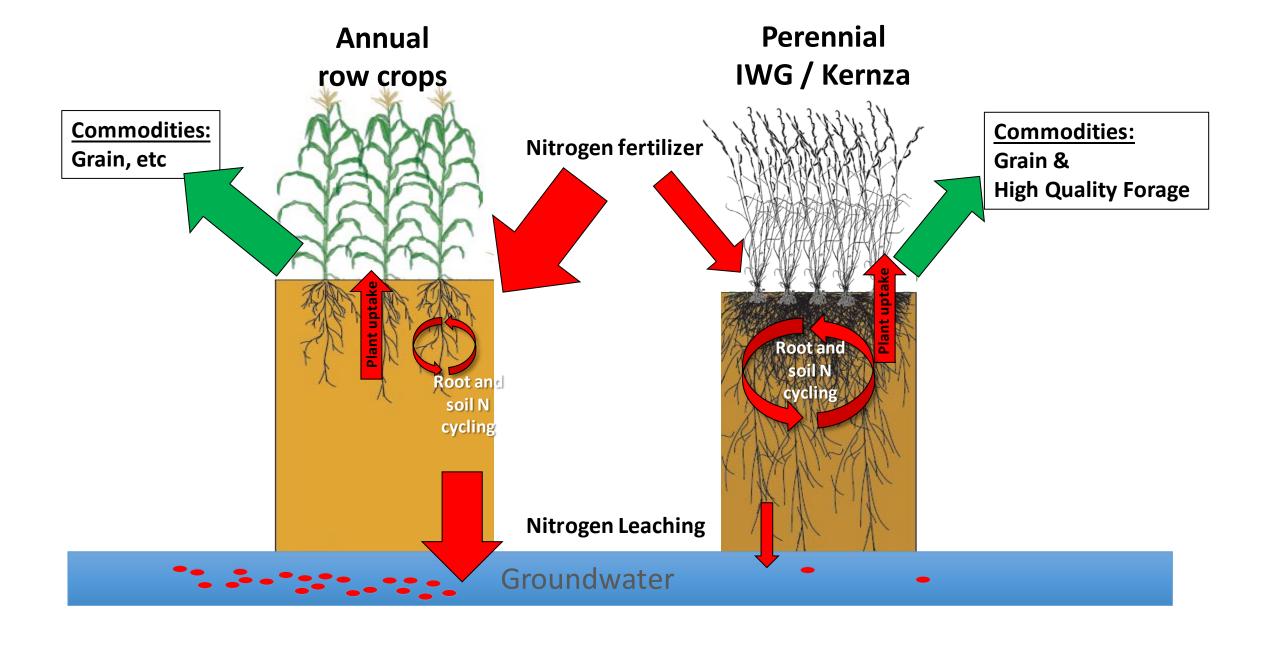

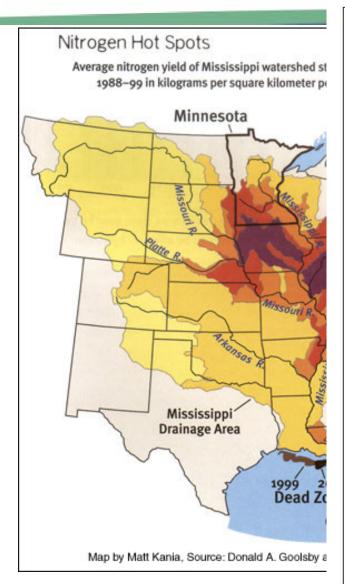

Nitrogen Fertilizer in Groundwater

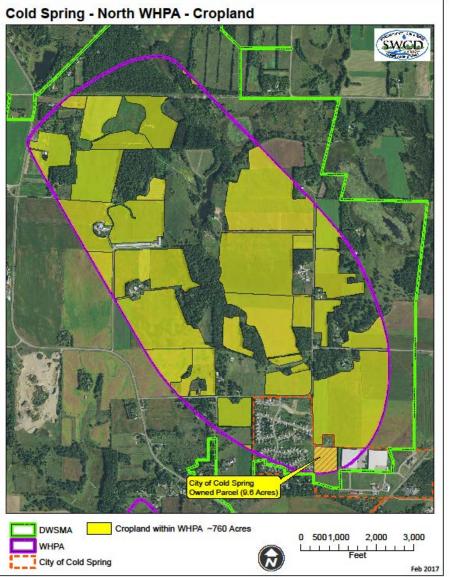

Agric ulture – Water Quality Namative

How do we get there?

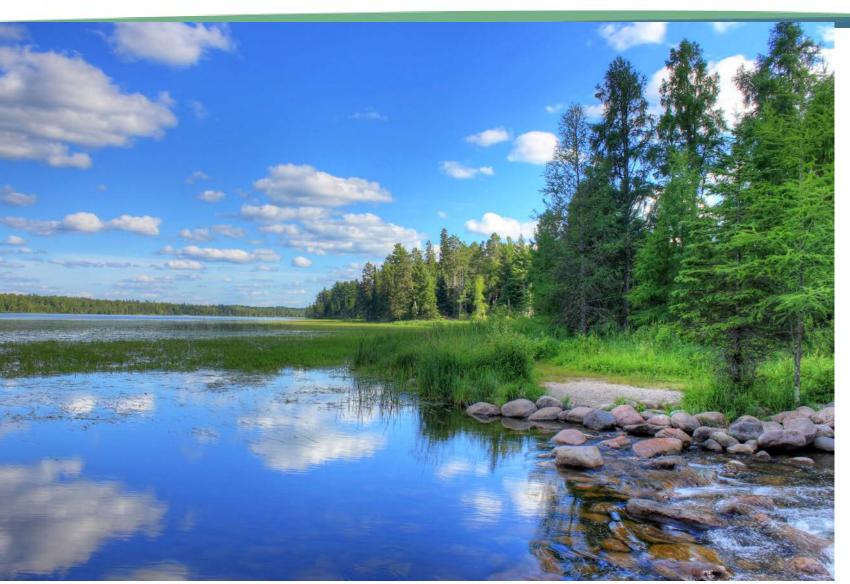

Market and policy drivers for

- Reduce risk for Kernza farmers
- Who will buy the grain?
- Identify local markets for IWG forage

Green Lands Blue Waters

Next GLBW Conference November 28-29, 2017

